Volume XII

1975-76

Prepared by the students in Mrs. Ruth Hart's sixth period English class.

Having Fun Is Part Of School Life

Mrs. Aldrich, Lane's girls' phys. ed. teacher, cooperates with the photogra-

"We've got spirit, yes, we do, We've got spirit, how 'bout you?" roars the enthusiastic Vikings at one of Lane's ninth grade football games.

1904800

Adorable Sandy Hiser accepts her 1st place prize and an album from Mr.

Tallman for her original costume at Lane's Halloween Party.

Classes And Parties Add To The Year

Mark Callant and Jeff Poston are busy working on a drafting project that is soon due.

Students shared this year together as they learned academically through classes and grew socially through after-school activities. In 1976 the Lane Vikings pondered the last 200 years of history and gave thanks to all Americans and planned a rewarding future for themselves.

Vikings Work And Have Fun Together Through The 1975-76 School Year

Varsity cheerleaders, Cindy Hiatt and Beth Huffman, talk to Mr. Williams

Mrs. Riethmiller gives advice to one of her English students during time in the library. Each

English class has library time every other week.

about arrangements for a pep session for the basketball season.

Tom Schafenacker checks the working order of a slide projector for AV.

Todd Chester over exploited the use of his name and costume for Lane's Halloween Party.

The bell rings! Class is over! Now it's rushing, pushing and shoving to get to class on time.

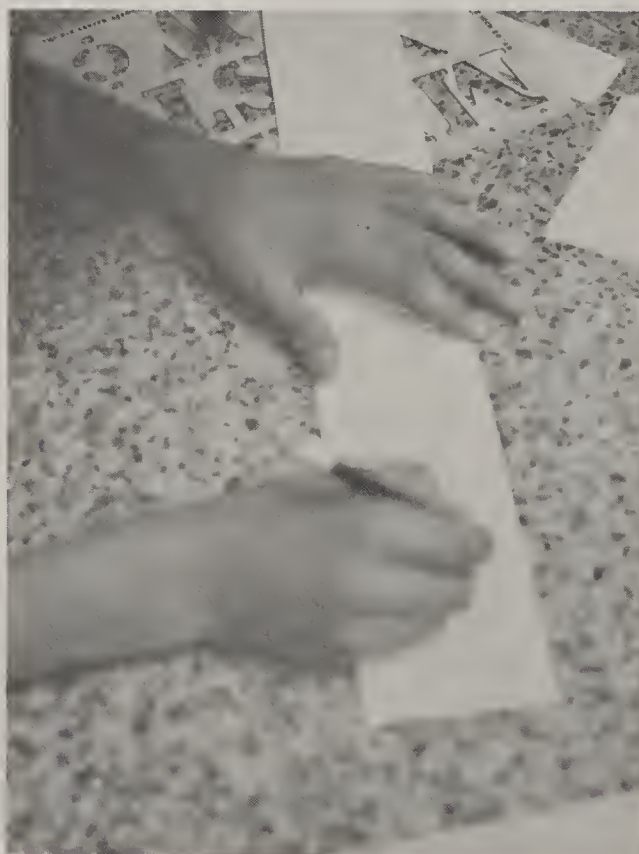

Mike Parks, Mark Kallenback and Clarence Robinson join in with other members of the Varsity Football Team in joyously hoisting their coach after winning the North Division.

Mrs. Hart and Jim Wharton confer on one of the pages for the 1976 yearbook.

A pair of Viking hands busily work on a poster displaying Lane spirit.

Sun Up To Sun Down Is Filled With Exciting Activities At Lane

The excited Lane fans wait for the arrival of the MIGHTY Varsity team. With the motto, "We're Gonna Win", the Freshmen took the city title.

Having Fun Is What Lane Is All About This Year For The Vikings

Mr. Hayden is caught on camera as he emerges from the faculty lounge, ready to leave for the day.

Fieldtrip FEET! Yes, these muddy feet came back to Lane after a trek through the woods.

Each day students coming to school are greeted by the flag.

Coach Neff talks to Wilfred Billingsley about a play for the City Championship

Game which the Vikings won, defeating the Ben Geyer Blazers, 6-0.

Vikings Have Fond Memories of 1976

"Coffee, tea, or me," says Shari Senger to John Corner as she finds a seat in the crowded cafeteria during lunch time.

"One and two and . . ." says Mr. Hopkins as he conducts Lane's school orchestra.

Brian Lee looks a little 'sick', only because Scott Malcolm is dissecting a frog for biology.

One lap around the infield with the City trophy held high, triumphantly runs the mighty varsity Vikings—City Champs!

Another Year At Lane Draws To An End

Pain and agony thinks Doug Marbry as he tries to lift his body up on the still rings.

After they were caught in the gym . . . Linda hides her face and Jim plays it cool.

"Yecch!" says Jeff Trueblood as he carefully examines the fish he has just dissected.

The Vikings cheer with happiness after defeating their arch rivals—the Blackhawk Eagles.

Jim Fisher is looking for 40¢ because the only money he has is a twenty dollar bill.

Scott Pyle tries to ripoff the pencil sharpener, but he got caught!

Is sewing really all that fun, or is Patty just posing for camera? Maureen Reich looks on, with a smile.

STAFF

Mr. Thomas C. Williams has completed his fourth year at Lane Junior High School. Mr. Williams has been a concerned principal, helping to provide good learning for Lane students. He has represented and led Lane to be the proud and worthy junior high that it is. Keeping Lane in operation is important, but even more so, his educational interests promote professional relationships with his teachers and students. Mr. Williams is responsible for organization, administration and supervision of activities related to Lane. He also attends administrative meetings, plans schedules and holds conferences with students and their parents, and promotes good school-community relationships.

Administrators Plan A Successful Year

This year Lane has a new assistant principal, James R. Davis. Mr. Davis assists the principal in whatever ways he can. His job is a very important part of Lane and includes responsibilities to the staff and to the Lane students. He works closely with the principal and counselors, and helps the students through their difficulties. His duties include: assisting in the cafetorium during lunch periods, handling parent-teacher conferences, arranging seventh-period activities, and working on student programming.

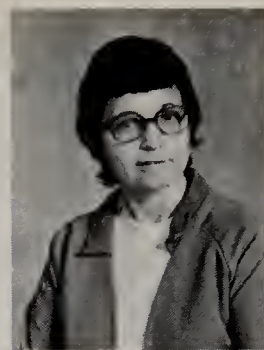

The guidance counselors, Mrs. McDouggle, left, and Mr. Kaufman, right, and Mr. Hayden, counselor aide, work together in ways to assist students with problems, giving advice on courses, bus loading, and hall supervision. They also spend time in the cafeteria which allows them to talk to students about their futures. The guidance counselors always have an open ear for the many students at Lane. They will always listen to problems and give helpful advice, whether it is for academic or personal problems that students face.

Office Staff Helps All Lane Students

Office personnel includes, left to right, Mrs. Kindy, Mrs. Younghaus, and Mrs. Murphy. Mrs. Kindy supervises study hall and does the attendance records. Mrs. Younghaus is secretary-treasurer and handles money matters. Mrs. Murphy is the secretary-receptionist and gives help to students and staff.

Lane's Entire Staff Is Important

Each day at 11:25, approximately 300 seventh graders arrive in the cafeteria ready for lunch. And during the next 90 minutes, the entire student body of Lane is welcomed with hot lunches prepared by Mrs. Berryhill, Mrs. Lichsinn, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Carteaux, and Mrs. Smock, mgr.

Lane's Custodial Staff, left to right, Mrs. Jantz, Mr. Atherton, and Mr. Stephan keep our building clean and in good operation for the 900 Viking students. Each day this staff has Lane ready for school. During vacation major cleaning tasks are performed. The night custodian, Mr. Stanger, is also an important member of the Lane custodial staff.

So Ends Another Year ... For You, For Us ...

After hundreds of working hours, we have produced a book of memories of this school year. Hopefully, you will look back upon 1976 as your best year at Lane.
